Our Mission

WRNC is committed to sharing information & knowledge about wildlife rehabilitation for the benefit of native wildlife. We are led by a dedicated team of volunteer board members, each bringing an area of expertise or resources to the group.

Our Members

Members of WRNC include wildlife rehabilitators, veterinarians, conservationists and wildlife agencies. WRNC is open to anyone with an interest in helping wildlife. Our goal is to provide a network of cooperation and information sharing among anyone working towards the betterment of native North Carolina wildlife.

How You Can Help

Because WRNC is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, we rely on membership dues and tax deductible donations to maintain our services.

Membership Benefits

WRNC is a valuable resource! Some of the biggest advantages of joining are unique educational opportunities including classes, seminars and hands on workshops, networking with other wildlife professionals and having access to the on-line directory of members for referrals or advice. WRNC also works with state and federal Wildlife Officials to promote professionalism and to improve rehabilitation standards and methods.
